CHRISTMAS DOINGS—EXODUS—CHICAGO'S BID FOR NATIONAL CONVENTION—MONUMENT TO EX-PRES-IDENT LINCOLN'S FATHER—NEW YEAR'S FESTIVITIES—PERSONAL.

CHICAGO, Dec. 25, 1879.

EDITORS LOUISIANIAN:
"Old Christmas brought his sports again;
"Twas Christmas broached the mightiest ale;
"Twas Christmas told the merriest tale; A Christmas gambol off would cheer A poor man's heart through half the year."

And, like music, it soothed the weary breast. But this is not our theme. The holiday has been well observed, and we conclude, when taking a retrospective view of the condition of the commercial, political and social status of our land of the free, that the Christmas of 1879 has been a particularly happy one. Though in the midst of these holidays, we have the poor among us who can scarcely realize that a merry Christmas and a happy New Year have ever been ordained for any one but those whom fortune has smiled upon.

Our churches and Sunday school children have spent the day in merry greetings to each other, there being dinners, Xmas trees, festivals and social gatherings too numerous to mention. Nor are the poor forgotten either, and many acts of charity are being performed by many benevolently-disposed organizations and individuals. We hope your gentle readers are mindful of those of our race who are now struggling, as it were, for freedom—not in theory, but practically—from the tyrant hands of plantation owners and merchants of the terrorized States of the South. They lie in wait for succor at Washington, Indianapolis, and other points, dependent upon the efforts of local charities, notwithstanding the best efforts have been put forward for their alleviation. Let the colored population throughout the United States respond to their call.

From all indications we are satisfied that the exodus, though dangerous as it is represented to be by the Democratic press, is fast clinching its hold upon public opinion as being the beginning of a final era of real freedom in the exercise of their rights in pursuit of happiness and peace.

Chicago is not satisfied apparently with the fact of having vanquished all other cities in the contest for the National Republican Convention which is to be held here in June, and is now anticipating the Democratic Convention as well, and there seems to be a strong feeling elsewhere that it could not be held in a better place. An interview with a local member of the committee expressed himself thus upon being questioned as to the probable place, and also the candidates having the biggest Democratic boom:

"The cities under discussion in connection with the holding of the convention, are Saratoga, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, St. Louis and Chicago. So far as known, Saratoga, Chicago, and Louisville appear to be the most favored."

He thought Seymour's chances for nomination were very remote, that Bayard has no chance at all, and that neither Tilden, nor Parker, of New Jersey, nor Hendricks, of Indiana, would have any chance at the Presidential pie, though Hendricks might again be a choice for second place.

"President-making," says the Chicago Journal, "continues to bear industry," and Republicans throughout the State are calling county conventions and organizing for the fight of 1880, while Democrats are doing nothing.
The Republican National Convention, to be held here in June, will be the fourth National political convention that has been held here.

The first was that which nominated Lincoln and Hamlin in 1860; the second was the Democratic National Convention of 1864, when Mc-Clellan and Pendleton were nominated; the third was the Republican National Convention of 1868, which nominated Grant and Colfax. Our commodious exposition building will be provided with seating accommodations for over 20,000 people, and thus you see Chicago is bound to do its best to announce to the world first again the Nation's choice.

The Indianapolis Leader, an excellent organ of the colored people of Indiana, managed by Messrs.
Bagby & Co., in its edition of the 20th, says:

"Through the instigation of Indiana's great blatherskite, Dan Voorhees, a committee of United States Senators is to investigate the immigration of our people from North Carolina to this State. Well, let Daniel and his committee investigate and be—dashed; but the immigration will go on just the same."

We say, bravo for the Leader.

Since it has been known that the grave of the father of the late President Lincoln is lying neglected and unmarked, there is about to be an effort made to erect a monument to it.

On New Year's night we anticipate a glorious time here as there is expected to be several prominent visitors and speakers, among them the Hon. Robt. B. Elliott, to attend the anniversary of our militia, and the commemorative reading and address on the Emancipation Proclamation.

We hail with delight the prospective appointment of the Hon.
P. B. S. Pinchback as surveyor of the port of New Orleans.

In conclusion of this random letter we wish you, Messrs. Editors, and your many readers, a Happy New Year.

Eat and be merry, but drink not.

WESLEY.

CITY OF NEW ORLEANS,

Dec. 22, 1879.

Delegates of the Republican Ward

Committees:

DEAR SIRS—Your attention is called to the importance of united and prompt action in your committee preparatory to the campaign of 1880.

No campaign so important has been waged in American politics for many years. The issues of that campaign transcend in importance any submitted for decision by the nation since the outbreak of the civil war.

Insignificant though we may be, supposed to be in comparison to the great nation and party at large, we have important duties to perform between this date and November of next year; nor is it impossible that in some respects our action may notably affect the result.

It is desirable that your committee should promptly meet, organize by the choice of a President, Secretary and Treasurer; elect your delegate to the Republican city committee, provide for the reorganization of the Central Ward Club and designate one or more of your ward committee for each precinct, whose duty it shall be to prepare complete rolls of all the Republican voters therein, and said rolls compiled for the use of the city committee.

You will, in common with your co-laborers of the ward committee, take care that it shall be thoroughly understood by the Republican voters of your ward—

First, That the late Parish Convention, in the exercise of its sovereign political authority, formally dismissed the late Parish Committee of the Republican party, of which James Lewis was President, and provided for the reorganization of the party now in progress, and—Second, That in consequence of that action by the convention there is no legitimate authority within the Republican party of the parish of Orleans except the committees of the several wards, and the delegate city committee to be hereafter organized, as provided by the convention, to-wit:

Resolved, That the several ward committees in this convention are hereby constituted ward committees which shall have sole supervision and authority to conduct, organize and adjust all political matters in their respective wards.
Each of said ward committees shall elect to represent them in the city committee as many delegates as the ward has representatives in the Lower House of the General Assembly, provided that each ward shall have at least one delegate.

Said committees shall have authority to regulate and adjust all political matters in dispute, to call parish conventions, make apportionments for the same, and fix days for the election of delegates thereto; to issue addresses in the name of the party, and to prescribe a plan of local organization.

Resolved, That this convention, by virtue of its sovereign political authority in the premises, ordains that the committees hereinbefore provided for shall sup- create all committees heretofore created for Republican party purposes in the parish of Orleans, or any part thereof, and that all authority heretofore vested in such committees is hereby transferred to those hereby created. Adopted Nov. 28, 1879.

You will duly caution all voters that no attention whatever is to be paid to the order or recommendation of any pretended authority, other than the several ward committees and the city committee above named, and that all persons pretending to direct or control the party, outside of such ward committees or city committee, are simply disorganizers.

It is especially desirable that your ward committee should complete its organization on or before the 8th day of January, 1880. It has clearly the power to fill vacancies which may exist by reason of death, resignation or refusal to attend.
It is desirable that it elect its delegate to the city committee at the same time that it completes its own organization.

As president of the late convention, I am charged with the duty of making these suggestions, and with that of supervising the organization of the city committee.

I earnestly desire to discharge these duties satisfactorily to the party, and to complete them at the earliest possible moment. I shall be very glad to turn over to the city committee the powers temporarily vested in me by the convention, and for this reason among others, urge promptitude and dispatch in the several ward committees.

Respectfully, J. H. GREEN, President.
WM. H. GREEN, President.
J. FARABACH, Secretary Republican Parish Convention, convened Oct. 27, 1879.

The Maurepas Gazette has changed its domicile from Livingston parish to Ponchartraine, in Tanzaniah parish, in order to get better mail facilities.

The great house of H. B.
Claffin & Co., in New York, employs 1,000 persons and sells over $40,000,000 worth of goods in a year.

A new Republican paper will be issued in this city to-day. Hon.
Michael Hann will be editor in chief. It will be published daily when the campaign opens.

ARKANSAS.

NAVY-SIX PRACTICE—POLITICS—PER-SONAL—ST. PAUL CHURCH—THE SCENE CHANGES.

PINE BLUFF, ARK.,

Dec. 22, 1879.

EDITORS LOUISIANIAN:

Christmas is nigh at hand and the usual routine of trees, festivals, hops, etc., are in vogue or in futuro hereabouts. Times are lively and the pop of the persuasive navy six ever and anon vexes the drowsy ear of the sleepy citizen. A few weeks since some young colored men had a shooting match, and during the melee a bystander—a poor simple mountebank—known as "show Dick," was killed. Last week Capt. J. F. Vaughan, formerly Republican sheriff of this county, was killed in an affray caused by some one coming in his saloon and bursting in the head of a dram left there for safe keeping. At about the same time a colored man, who lived a short distance from town, was shot dead by an officer who attempted to arrest him. In fact, killing of men has become so common in this section that all parties are anxiously enquiring, "When will this thing end?"

Our farmers have done well this year, and all have some money, and the prospects for a lively Christmas were never better.
The time for the general election is near at hand and candidates are springing up all over the land.
Among those named for governor are Gen. Churchill, present State Treasurer, and Col. W. P. Grace, an eminent lawyer of this place.
Col. Grace has been a member of the public school board of this place for many years, and is an enthusiastic friend of public schools.
In other respects he is cosmopolite in his views, and, being an able speaker, he will probably be a formidable candidate. Whether or not there will be an opposition candidate remains to be seen, but the probability is that there will be one supported by Greenbackers, Republicans and outs.

Madam Lewis, a colored lady, hailing from Hayti, lectured here last week at the court-house, and created quite a sensation. She speaks too rapidly, but, in other respects, is quite an oratrix. She attracted a large audience and was listened to with close attention.
She proposes to establish somewhere in Texas a school for colored females.

As a personal item, I may mention, too, the brother from the country who preached for us last Sunday night. His sermon was unrememberable and indescribable, but I fortunately remember two or three lines of the hymn he sang.
They are as follows:

Oh, deacon, do your best,
Hallelujah,
You will find some false pretender,
Hallelujah,
A fixing for to find something for to jump at,
Hallelujah!

If you can set it up as poetry, please do so. I regret that I am unable to state the metre, to assist you in doing so. Perhaps it is oblong metre—it sounded that way.
The St. Paul Colored Baptist Church of this place last week ordered of Mezey and Kimberly, the noted bell founders of Troy, N. Y., a bell to weigh 700 pounds for their new church. Our folks are rapidly learning to put on airs, as you will infer from this circumstance.

"The show" came to town last week, and it was fearful and wonderful to see the brethren flocking in from the country. Not a precinct was left to be heard from.
The institution consisted of a su-perlatively sonorous "entire," a transcendently dilapidated old canvass, a band wagon "most glorious to behold," and a beggarly array of the descendants of Rosinante sired by starvation. Yet our country consists flocked in by scores, hundreds and legions, and our town population poured out en masse to see the show. The brethren and sisters, by dozens, deserted the droppings of the sanctuary to listen to the antiquated thread-bare witticisms of the clown. The pulpit was empty and put on its strength and made the welkin ring with denun-ciations of the hopeless depravity of the unfaithful who had been tempted to witness the caperings and vapourings of the ungodly clowns, educated pigs and horntooters. Scores of the erring ones were hauled to the judgment seat and compelled to "fess" ere they were allowed to "go in peace and sin no more." "The show" will scarcely dare to attempt such a wholesale "tearing down of the walls of Zion" in these parts again.

Since writing the preceding valuable historical memoranda and philosophical observations, your correspondent has shifted his headquarters from Pine Bluff to Little Rock. The latter name, it is pertinent to remark, is always pronounced by the natives as a word of three syllables, accented on the first, thus—Little-rock. It derives its name from the fact that its inhabitants in the days of yore, before the scientific bowie-knife and high-topped navy-six were invented, used to "barnce" each other with a little rock. The railroad from Little Rock to Pine Bluff as yet is constructed only on "paper," and, consequently, is illly adapted to convey the 170 pounds a voidpous, and 170,000 pounds intellectual of your gifted correspondent, therefore the G. C. address "took" passage on a ramshackling old rattle-trap of a vehicle marked thus: "Arkansas Valley Stage Company." The vehicle started at 11 o'clock Tuesday night, and at 11 o'clock Wednesday "the old ark" still was a moving along—moving along into Little Rock. As the distance traveled was just 50 miles, it will be seen that our go-cart averaged the marvelous speed of two miles an hour, so that if we had been bound to the celestial city, old Mr. Ready-tohalt could have easily walked alongside and chatted by the way, provided, however, that Mr. R. aforementioned had not frozen, for it suddenly turned piercing cold, as Dr.
Watts pertinently remarks:

"First it roared and then it poured, Then it blew and then it snowed."

At Little Rock we found the first snow of the season duly served up "on the half shell."

Oh, ho, bawling "nough," are you? Well, I'll let you off till I split on my hands.

TOOTHPIKE.

It was generally supposed that the abolition of slavery would greatly reduce the cotton product of the United States. But there never was so grave a mistake.
The ten crops of 1852 to 1861 inclusive, being the ten last crops raised by slave labor, numbered 34,695,440 bales. The ten crops of 1870 to 1879 inclusive, being the last ten crops raised by free labor, numbered 51,454,743 bales. Thus, the excess of the ten years of free labor amounts to 6,459,303 bales.

Gas companies have struck fearful Eddies on their financial fleeing of corporations.

New Year's day was as dull in display as Christmas was brilliant and attractive.

In the heyday of his honeymoon, the bullet of an assassin reminds Alfonso that there is no royal road to happiness.

By the tabulated vote cast at the late election the majority for the new constitution is 59,059; for the State debt ordinance, 10,487.

The National Republican Committee have issued their formal call for the National Republican Convention to be held at Chicago, June 9d.

The Maine revolution does not enter into the main end of Republican form of government. Tilden says he didn't suggest it. The National Democratic Committee is unwilling to father, yet for all that Garcelon still lives.

The Democrats find that Gov. Garcelon, of Maine, has a very stiff back-bone. It's however a fact that has been known all way along that none but the hardened sinner can undertake desperate enterprises.

We miss our elected solons. Usually by Christmas the town resounds with their merry greetings and congratulations. Where, oh where are they? Oh! come to think of it the Assembly just elected is overwhelmingly and undeniably Democratic.

Our thanks are due the Secretary of the Treasury for a copy of his annual report. The exhibit of the National finances is highly flattering to the recuperative powers of the Nation and is a just source of pride to Republican statesmanship.

The Picayune is of the opinion that the splendid crops this year and the good prices realized for the same have killed out the exodus fever. No prophecy is so hazardous as that which relates to an event of too recent growth to furnish sufficient data to speak from.

Our associate editor, J. D. Kennedy, Esq., left Thursday evening last for Washington city to be absent for a while, and perhaps for a permanent stay. We trust he will be guarded enough to keep his heart about him whatever else may chance to befall him at the capital.

By order of the Secretary of the Treasury several of the extra inspectors lately appointed for duty at the Customhouse, owing to the increase of business, have been dismissed. It is to be hoped that the Hon. Secretary will enable the Collector to re-appoint the discharged officers.

White Savages.

We live in a section of this broad country where "every prospect pleases and only man is vile." The ferocious tiger does not roam his native jungles of India more at freedom to lap his molars in the blood of his prey than do the white savages of Louisiana yclept men move about with less fear of God and no regard of law to hurry Negroes, unprepared and unknelted, into the dread presence of their Maker. The daily papers of last Monday contained an account of the lynching of four colored men at Amite City, within a few miles of this city. The cold-blooded brutality displayed by the white savages who did the fiendish work, but for the frequency of such outrages in this State, would have moved the very trees which witnessed the devilish scene to indignation. The time was when the white people alleged that they murdered Negroes in this State as a necessary sequence of bad Republican government. Be that as it may, we have now been living for nearly four years under Democratic rule, and we are unable to notice a diminution of the white Comanches who are a disgrace to their race, a curse to the State and an impious libel on the God that made them.

These white savages are upheld no little by the "We-regret-it" class and the Democratic press, which see in these violent infractions of law and the reckless slaughter of black men only slight ebullitions of public wrath which they say are as common to the enlightened States of the North as they are to the barbarous communities of the South. With such horrid experience as the Tangipahoa affair in the minds of our people, with the consciousness they have that the white savages who delight in drinking their blood, as it were, are really the class that rule and make public sentiment in Louisiana, no one need wonder that the Negro laborers are determined to go hence where their lives can be given the regard due to that of a dog. It is not a whit in palliation to say that the four wretches who were hung and riddled with bullets at Amite were charged with heinous crimes; we have courts, at least the government of Mr. Nicholls long ago told the world that life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness would be safe and protected under the regime of the party he represents. Appearances indicate that the white savages have completely deposed him and all law from power.

The odious name which Louisiana has merited by the ascendancy of this cruel, savage element, will stick to her skin like a Nemesis till the present generation shall have been gathered to their fathers in the world where both the tormentor and his victim will be under the impartial rule of the same monarch. But this condition of things cannot long last. You cannot always play with keen-edged tools without being cut; you cannot mock justice and insult principle without soon or late incurring the dire consequences of such temerity. If the brutal murders of colored men do not cease, the natural laws of right will in time subvert the liberties of the people and relegate them to an iron hand power which will know neither white nor black in the dispensation of rewards and punishments.

It may be a poor consolation, but it is nevertheless something worth having, that until Louisiana suppresses her white savages and protects her black yeoman muscle from their ruthless barbarities, she must suffer all the pains and agonies, in her turbulent state, of the damned in the kingdom of the savage Lord of the Flames below.

The communication on the first page from the president of the late Republican Parish Convention was received too late for insertion last week. The reading of it is none the less interesting.

The Maine imbroglio is the entering wedge into the close-grained wood of liberty which despotism has been laboring to split asunder.

The Louisianian for 1880.

With the advent of the New Year the LOUISIANIAN girds on its armor anew to do battle for the great and vital principles which suggested its appearance in the field of journalism. The achievements of the past are such as to buoy us with some feeling of honest pride; but much, very much, yet remains in the future to be accomplished for the triumph of human rights in our State. The theoretic acquiescence in the civil and political privileges of our race must be finally capped by the diadem of practical and hearty endorsement of the same ere the LOUISIANIAN will feel called on to either retire from the field of contest, or turn aside its energies to other and legitimate objects of warfare. The new year comes laden with issues of momentous import, first to our common country, and next to our welfare as a race. A strong, powerful hand at the helm of the National ship of State will need to be chosen this year. Under its enlightened direction our liberties and our lives and fortunes will have to be as sacred in these Southern States as they are in the North. The LOUISIANIAN will aid to bring about such a glorious consummation. It will be bold, fearless and outspoken on all questions of public policy, or of a social nature pertaining to our material interest as it has ever been in the past. In the discharge of its honestly conceived duty, it will know neither friend nor foe, party nor creed, section nor race. Its moral tone will still be of that elevated type which has rendered the LOUISIANIAN acceptable in the counting room of the banker, the home of the cultured mind as well as the lowly cabin of the horny-handed son of toil. Those wishing a reliable representative journal of our race will not, we think, regret giving the LOUISIANIAN a trial.

Beginning with the new year is the time to subscribe.

We appeal to our people chiefly in the country to subscribe and help extend our circulation, as it is to their prime interest to do so.

The Same Old Story.

AMITE CITY, La., Dec. 28.—About 10 o'clock this evening a mob numbering not less than fifty, called on Sheriff F. P. Mix, and demanded the keys of the jail.

After the keys were obtained the mob then took six negroes who were confined in jail about half a mile from town, on what is known as "the avenue," and hung four and liberated two, for some cause not known.

When the four bodies were found they were lying close together, and were riddled with bullets. Ropes were around the necks of three.

Their names were Dick Smith, who was on trial for killing a white woman; Geo. Carroll, charged with murdering his wife at Hammond, Louisiana.

Harrison Johnson and the other one were arrested on charge of murdering a Mr. Phillips, at Tangipahoa, on Christmas Eve last.

O'MEX.
The above special telegram appeared in all the city papers last Monday. It is the same old story. The Negro is the victim of malignity and hate every time. The perpetration of such dastardly outrages does more to hurt the national interests of this section than anything that could possibly be imagined. Verily it seems as if all sense of reason, justice and Christian teaching has left portions of our State and "fled to brutish beasts." A day of reckoning, however, must come. It will come, and the Democratic papers that publish such outrages without a word of comment will find out when it is too late that the last outrage has been committed on a lowly and suffering people. We do not know whether these men were murdered for political causes or effect or not; but we do know that their merciless slaughter proves to the world that Tangipahoa parish has within its limits a contemptible, dastardly mob, whose interests and reverence for law are as low as their action has been cowardly and inhuman.

A band of New Year callers at Camp went away as dry as they came.

A Happy Result.

An old saw has it, "Tis an ill wind that blows nobody good." For years we have sought to impress on our people the necessity of learning economy. It needs no philosophic mind to understand that a people whose entire capital is in their muscle and who can never make a money showing for the exercise of those muscles must, so long as they remain thus, be despised by their more fortunate fellows who, in their abundance, enjoy the luxuries which come from thrift and providence. Time and again, in city and country, have we been pained to see the reckless, yea, if you please, criminal expenditure of our people of their hard-earned means in whisky, gawags, and other baubles, till we have well nigh despaired that the quality of saving can ever become one of the acquired virtues of the race. But continued wrongs which have made the life of the Negro in some parts of this State almost a burden to himself and which necessarily first opened the idea of going hence, have likewise taught him to learn the very useful habit of laying up against a rainy day—a habit which it seemed no less pressure could have taught him. From all parts of the State, especially the bulldozed districts, we have the gratifying intelligence that the colored people have not only made money, but have become severely economical, indeed too much so for the profit of the rascally country trap-falls of stores which have fleeced them for years. If this new habit, which has been induced by a desire to emigrate, should never serve the purpose of depopulating the State of its laborers, it will at least be an invaluable acquisition to those civic virtues of the race which will tend to elevation and illustrate the trite saying of these words—"Tis an ill wind that blows nobody good."

To All

Our readers wish a happy new year—not in the stereotyped sense, but in the sincere desire that 1880 may be to them all that they can in reason ask of fickle Dame Fortune. Seventy-nine is dead and entombed in the misty past of the annals which mark the pathway of man's progress to his destiny. The present year greets us with bright promises of a removal of the long pall of financial gloom which draped the South for six years in common with the rest of the country. The resounding noise of long forgotten industries, which began some months ago at the North, has already reached our ears, and it will be re-echoed in a prosperity among us to which Louisiana has been a stranger for a long time. All indications bid us to be of good cheer, and see in 1880 much that we had hoped for in the return of good times which we had almost feared would never be realized. Thanking Heaven that the dead year has served us no worse, let each one, relying on his brave heart and stout arm launch out to get out of 1880 all the good that can be had out of a new year.

Since penning the article "White Savages," we have been gratified to notice that the Picayune and Times have denounced the Tangipahoa butchery. The Democrat had done likewise a few days previous, only however in a very faint manner. Now let these papers bring the force of their influence to bear on Gov. Nicholls that he may secure the arrest and punishment of the thugs whose hands are dripping with the blood of the unfortunate wretches, and they will have rendered invaluable service to the State and humanity.

We congratulate Gov. Wiltz on his recovery. A gentleman of warm and generous impulses toward all classes of our people, we hope he'll make as good an Executive as he was Mayor, much as we opposed his success in the late contest.

With the return of prosperity there is fear that the American people will ere long plunge into a career of extravagance which must again turn the balance of trade against them.

Personals.

—Our junior editor has gone to Washington.

—Mrs. Jos. J. Vincent McMayne is in the city.

—Hon. Charles A. Bourgeois, of St. Charles, dropped in the other day.

—Hon. J. Henri Burch will leave for Washington in a few days.

—Mrs. John M. Langston is in Nashville visiting her daughter, Mrs. James C. Napier.

—Mr. J. I. Rogers, our popular and efficient agent at Thibodaux, is in the city spending the holidays.

Mr. Geo. J. Johnson has been appointed an Inspector of Customs. An excellent appointment, General Badger, an excellent appointment.

—Hon. James Hill, Collector of Internal Revenue for the District of Mississippi, has returned to Jackson, after a pleasant sojourn in Washington as the guest of U. S. Senator Bruce.

—We have received the second number of the Mississippi Republican, under the management of our friend, Hon. James Hill. Mr. Robt. J. Alcorn is the editor. Under such management we doubt not it will do yeoman service in the cause of right. We have placed it on our exchange list with many wishes for its success.

Stanzas

ON WATCHING A GOAT FROM A FENCE.

Tell me, sweet goat, with eyes so fierce and red, Before whose wrath men in terror flee,
And when they see thee lower thy awful head, Make haste to mount a post or climb a tree, Why does it fill thy soul with raptures sweet,
To butt a man or chase him through the street?

And tell me, gentle goat, if ask I may—For 'tis an awful mystery to man—Oh, how dost thou contrive to get away With an old stove-pipe or an oyster-can?

And when thou swallowest whole an old hoop-skirt, Does it not tangle up in thee and hurt?

Oh, goat, thou ever art alert for prey!
Turn but thy noble head and thou wilt see A son of China walking o'er the way.

He would look lovely swarming up a tree, Go, glorious goat, and with him have some fun,
And meanwhile I'll get off this fence and run.

—Boston Post.

Figures and facts, like the following clipped from an exchange, are eminently gratifying, if the South would become peaceful so that the humblest laborer could be assured of safety in life and property: "The ten cotton States exported merchandise for the year ending June 30, 1879, amounting in value to a total of $162,304,250. At the same time the imports were about $31,128,811, leaving a balance in favor of exports of over $100,000,000."

The Southern trip of Gen. Grant is a fitting and necessary supplement to the magnificent ovations which have been tendered him by the richer States of the North and West. We trust he'll give New Orleans a call on his return from the land of the greasers.

A Washington special says: "There is a good deal of comment and quiet figure-work here as to the probable status of the Senate in 1881. If New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Indiana elect Republican Senators and General Mahone goes with the Republican, or Grant party, as he calls it, the Senate will be Republican by two majorities. If he remains on the fence it will be a tie, and the Vice President's vote will decide all political and other important questions."

ADVOCATING THE RIGHTS OF MEN,

And representing, especially, the colored citizen, the LOUISIANIAN will maintain, as a fundamental principle, the perfect equality of all citizens, without regard to race or color.

Shall be to foster kindly relations between the races, and to establish a more mutual respect for each other as the very first essential to the future peace and prosperity of our State and the South.

We enter upon our eighth year pledged to the advocacy of the

that has governed the LOUISIANIAN from the beginning. The necessity of a closer intercourse between the two classes—the colored and white people of our State—we rejoice to know, is fast becoming manifest; and, the recent emancipation of our people from the domination of political task-masters renders this desideratum possible.

HARMONY AND MODERATION

among all classes and between all interests; kindness and forbearance fostered where iniquity and resentment reigned, and a common service of all the people will elevate our loved State to an enviable and rightful position among her sisters in the development of her boundless resources and matchless advantages.

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM,

The LOUISIANIAN offers rare advantages to the merchant and business man. Our large and weekly increasing circulation within the State, and throughout the country, renders the service of our columns particularly desirable.

EDUCATION.

A special feature of our paper will be its educational column, relating to matters affecting our common school system, the education of our youth, and enlightenment of the masses.

FINAL.

With this statement of our purpose and laudable endeavor, we hope we shall receive, as we shall always strive to merit, commendation and support. Identify with every interest of our State, proud of its history and its advantages, we shall untiringly work in its behalf; counting no exertion too great or services too onerous to command and insure success.
